A variance authorizes building a structure (such as a building, fence, or sign structure) or other site improvement in a location or of a size not permitted under the ordinance. It is intended to resolve practical difficulties or unnecessary physical hardships that may result from the size, shape, or dimensions of a site; or from topographic or other physical conditions on the site or in the immediate vicinity of the site.

Variations may be granted by the Zoning Board of appeals only if all of the following standards are met:

- (1) Literal enforcement of this chapter will pose practical difficulties to the applicant because of special conditions or circumstances which are unique to the specific property such as: exceptional shallowness or shape of the property, exceptional topographic conditions, extraordinary situation of a building or structure, use or development of an adjacent property, or difficulties relating to construction or structural changes on the site. Mere inconvenience or a desire to attain higher financial return shall not itself be deemed sufficient to warrant a variance.
- (2) Such variance is necessary for the preservation and enjoyment of a substantial property right enjoyed by other property owners in the same district under the terms of this chapter. Granting of the variance shall not confer upon the applicant any special privilege that is denied by this chapter to other lands, structures, or buildings in the same district.
- (3) The alleged practical difficulties on which the variance request is based have not been created by any person presently having an interest in the property.
- (4) The granting of the variance will not be detrimental to the public welfare or injurious to other property or improvements in the neighborhood in which the property is located.
- (5) The allowance of the variance will result in substantial justice being done, considering the public benefits intended to be secured by this chapter, the individual hardships that will be suffered by a failure of the zoning board of appeals to grant the variance, and the rights of others whose property would be affected by the allowance of the variance.
- (6) A variance granted shall be the minimum variance that will make possible a reasonable use of the land, buildings, or structure.

A variance runs with the land and stays with the property, even if transferred to a new owner. However, a variance shall become null and void if no building permit or no construction is started within one year of the approval date of the variance.
