A planned unit development (PUD) is a large, integrated development adhering to a comprehensive plan and located on a single tract of land or on two or more tracts of land that may be separated only by a street or other right-of-way. PUDs offer a flexibility that allows creativity in site design and the protection of environmentally sensitive lands not otherwise possible. In exchange for design flexibility, developers must provide a public benefit, including (but not limited to) amenities and infrastructure improvements, and often find it easier to accommodate environmental and scenic attributes.

The City allows for two types of PUDs: adaptive reuse and standard. Adaptive reuse PUDs are for re-use of existing non-residential structures in residential areas, and may have a historic component. Standard PUDs are generally for large or complex developments on sites greater than an acre in size.

Review Process and Timeline

Both types of PUDs go through a similar process. Standard PUDs tend to be rather more complex than adaptive re-use PUDs, and we recommend a series of pre-application meetings to discuss site concepts before submitting an application. For adaptive reuse PUDs, we do recommend at least one meeting with staff prior to application. Once the application is received, staff will schedule a public hearing. If your application is complete and received by 4:00 p.m. on the third Wednesday of the month, it will be heard in front of Planning Commission at their regular meeting at 7:00 p.m. on the third Wednesday of the following month. During the intervening time, staff will review the application; notify neighbors within 300' by first-class mail, and place a notice in the Washtenaw Legal News.

At their meeting, Planning Commission will hold a public meeting, where the public is invited to address them about the proposed PUD. They also hear a staff report about the PUD's conformance with the Master Plan, conformance with the spirit of the zoning ordinance, and public benefit. The applicant will also be invited to speak. With the information they gather at this meeting, they make a recommendation to City Council.

City Council will generally hear the PUD application and the Planning Commission recommendation at their regularly scheduled meeting on the second Tuesday of the following month. There is another public hearing at this meeting, advertised again in the Washtenaw Legal News, and the PUD is addressed as the first reading of an ordinance change, as PUDs are treated as site-specific rezoning. The PUD ordinance must be read and approved a second time before it is considered adopted. The PUD takes effect thirty days after adoption by City Council.

Once the PUD has been approved by the Planning Commission and City Council, the applicant will work with staff to address the next steps, which usually include, at a minimum, a preconstruction meeting.

THE CHECKLIST ON THE FOLLOWING PAGE MUST BE COMPLETED AND INITIALED.

Each PUD application must include the following information, in addition to the standard site plan application requirements below:

	A table of total land areas devoted to each type of use, usable floor areas, density calculations, number and type of any dwelling units, and building ground coverage.
	A table describing the extent and quantity of open space areas, indicating the proposed uses and improvements for such areas.
	Copy of agreements, covenants, or deed restrictions which will assure that the development will be completed and maintained as shown on the plans by the developer and successive owners.
	Narrative explaining how exceptions to the zoning ordinance will result in a higher-quality development than if those standards were strictly adhered to.

Required Information for a Site Plan

Project-identifying information
	Name of project
	Brief description of project
	Location map showing major thoroughfares and site location (no scale necessary)
	Name, address and phone number of the site owner
	Name, address and phone number of the developer
	Name, address and phone number of the plan designer and their professional seal
Existing conditions
	Scale (minimum of one inch equals 200 feet), north arrow, date of original drawing and any revisions
	Area of the site in square feet and acres, excluding all existing and proposed rights-of-way.
	Property lines and dimensions, including lines and dimensions of all rights-of-way & easements
	All structures and accessory structures, their uses and dimensions. These include but are not limited to buildings, signs, drives, parking areas, sidewalks, utilities, lighting, fences, flagpoles, and dumpsters/refuse collection areas.
